Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I think that this settlement is absolutely shameful!

This is the last opportunity to stop a runaway corporate monster from buying Justice.

No computer in the world has been sold without a Microsoft operating system, and if that isn't a monopoly, I don't know what isn't!! Yes, EVERY computer, as M$ owns a part of Apple.

No other company can hope to offer competition if this settlement goes through.

I'm an American, working for an American company, and would find it difficult to hold my head up, knowing that my own government cares less about me, than an aberration that has taken business ethics to new lows.

Hopeful,
Alfred Lang
